How Profit Is Divided

It is probable that no subject of an economic nature is more generally misunderstood than what happens to the income taken in by this country's major industries. There is a particularly flagrant lack of knowledge about the size of the profits that are earned. So a breakdown of the experience of the nation's 100 largest manufacturers during a recent year may be of value. Here it is:

Of each dollar received from customers, 51 cents went to pay for goods and services bought from others. Five cents was consumed by the cost of tools wearing out — that is, obsolescence. Taxes accounted for nine cents. The cost of human energy — wages and other payroll items — took 27 cents.

After all these bills were met, seven cents remained. This was the profit. But only about half of it was paid in the form of dividends to the owners of these businesses. The other half was used for reinvestment within the businesses themselves. — Athens (Tex.) Daily Review

No Job For Men

We regret to report that the machine has once again proved its superiority to man.

It happened in Great Britain, where a contest was staged to select the "most perfect woman in England." The sole judge of the contest was a computer. The "judge" studied the six finalists' statistics and — imagine this! — rendered its decision in a mere two minutes flat!

We don't know any man who could choose the "most perfect woman" in two minutes' time. We don't even know any who would dare to try. — Savannah (Ga.) Morning News

Stewed, Tattooed

The Canadian government decided that about the only way to keep track of lobsters is to tattoo them. Humane body that it is, the government realized some sort of tranquilizer was needed to ease the pain of the process.

Leave it to the resourceful Canadians: The lobsters are dipped in a bucket of alcohol until they are thoroughly sozzled, and only then is the tattoo needle applied.

No doubt the loop-legged lobster wakes up with a crustaceous hangover and wonder what ever prompted him to visit that tattoo joint in the first place. Millions of sailors the world over know just how the lobster feels. — Dallas (Tex.) Morning News

Will Computers Replace Pupils?

A desk-side connection with an IBM computer 50 miles away has taken the burden of homework off half dozen students in an experimental test in Brooklyn parochial schools.

For instance, given the radius of the earth, in two seconds the computer retruned the requested earth's surface area — 201,000,000 square miles. One can very easily see where this sort of thing will lead. Pupils will loiter at home while computers go to school and do the work. — Anderson (S.C.) Independent

Hope Man Involved in Fatal Accident

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — David Howard, 26, of Bryant, was struck by a truck and killed early today as he walked along Interstate 30 about 10 miles south of Little Rock.

State Police identified the truck driver as Lawrence Atkinson, 27, of Hope.

Officers said Howard was walking west on the highway and the truck was eastbound.

U.S. to Sell India Uranium

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States will sell India up to $100 million worth of enriched uranium for India's infant atomic power system, an informed American source said today.

This is the first time the United States has agreed to sell uranium for peaceful purposes in Asia, although some sales have been made in Europe.

The agreement calls for sales over a 25-year period. India will pay in U. S. dollars and has agreed to standard U.S. Atomic Energy Commission safeguards to insure the uranium is used only for peaceful purposes.

Ky Flies Into Rebel Hotbed, Troops Move in

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Rebel fire brought down a small U.S. spotter plane in Da Nang late today after Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's opponents poured 500 more antigovernment troops into that dissident northern hot bed.

Ky made a brief visit to Da Nang earlier to rally support and swear in his new military commander for the northern provinces.

The plane, carrying a U.S. Army pilot and a Marine Corps observer, crashlanded on a beach two miles outside the city after taking seven hits from antigovernment troops near one of the pagodas controlled by the rebels. Neither American was injured.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Five hundred more antigovernment troops poured into Da Nang today as Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew into the rebel hotbed to install his new military commander for the dissident northern section. Neither side in the political struggle showed any inclination to relent — or to force a showdown.

While drums and gongs sounded, 20 Buddhist monks and nuns began a 48-hour hunger strike in Saigon to protest the government's attempt to get control of Da Nang. As a precaution against new street disorders, the military junta brought two battalions of Vietnamese marines into the Saigon area.

An orderly crowd of about 2,000 paraded through the streets of Hue, the other northern center of opposition to the government, with the body of an army lieutenant shot Tuesday by an American helicopter gunner.

Armed rebel soldiers patrolled the streets and manned barricades on the road to the military airport.

Artificial Heart Is Working Well

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A retired Navy man was "awake and doing well" today after becoming the second patient with in three weeks to have a partial artificial heart implanted in his chest.

Walter L. McCans, 61, Woodville, Wash., received the device to assist his heart's pumping in an operation performed Tuesday by a cardiovascular team at Methodist Hospital.

A hospital statement said McCans was taken to surgery to have an aortic ball valve inserted in his heart. He was described as in "rather severe left ventricle heart failure" when he entered the operating room.

Afterward the hospital would say only that "The surgical operation was successful."

Its first statement on McCans' condition was issued more than four hours after the operation was completed.

SHADE GAP, Pa. (AP) — A crazed kidnaper was slain today in a wild gun battle with law officers who rescued his hostage, 17-year-old Peggy Ann Bradnick apparently unhurt.

William Diller Hollenbaugh, 44, already charged with killing one FBI agent during the manhunt, wounded another FBI man and a deputy sheriff in a final blaze of rifle fire before he himself fell fatally wounded.

The gunfight in the rock-strewn woods in the Tuscarora Mountains, 70 miles southwest of Harrisburg, climaxed a massive manhunt which began when Hollenbaugh snatched Peggy Ann on her way home from school with her five younger brothers and sisters last Wednesday.

Flushed out of his hiding place by officers and police dogs, Hollenbaugh refused to surrender. He fired his rifle repeatedly at the coming officers before a bullet caught him in the chest.

He was pronounced dead at Fulton Medical Center in nearby McConelsburg.

Dr. Robert Fry, a physician at the medical center, said after examining Miss Bradnick that he found no evidence she had been molested.

"She is a little excited," he noted. "She had a good breakfast and her parents are with her."

First Known Atom Spy Out of Prison

By LEE LINDER

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Harry Gold, America's first known atomic spy who carried nuclear secrets to Soviet agents during and after World War I, goes free today after 16 years in prison.

He will finish the rest of his 30-year sentence on parole.

The Philadelphia bachelor, 55 and white-haired, said he will live with a younger brother and their bedridden father, now 88, and hoped to work as a biochemist with a hospital or a university.

Gold's court-appointed attorney, Augustus B. Ballard of Philadelphia, said "He will have no trouble finding a job. He is a highly qualified biochemist. Quite a few feelers have been made and I'm sure he will be able to work out something with one of them."

Nervous Nellies Are Challenged by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has challenged his Viet Nam critics to stop being "nervous Nellies" and stand united "until the gallant people of South Viet Nam have their own choice of their own government."

"I want the killing to stop," he told a Democratic fund-raising dinner Tuesday night in Chicago. But he added, in one of his sharpest attacks on his critics: "I do not think that those men who are out there fighting for us tonight think that we should enjoy the luxury of glistening each other back home."

Earlier, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference that the Johnson administration is using all its influence to get the South Vietnamese to put aside "secondary issues and unite in the main tasks of fighting the war and building a new political system."

Drinkers Die in Auto Accidents

CHICAGO (AP) — An analysis of the blood of persons who died in auto crashes during the first three months of 1966 in Illinois shows that half of them had been drinking.

The survey said also that half of those with alcohol in their blood were intoxicated under the legal definition.

Randy Turpin Boxer, Shot to Death

By GRANVILLE WATTS LONDON (AP) — The sad riches-to-rags story of Randolph Turpin, former world middleweight champion, ended with a gunshot blast in a dingy backstreet cafe Tuesday.

Although police maintained a traditional silence on who did the shooting, friends said the 38-year-old Turpin had been depressed lately.

In the same incident Turpin's 17-month-old daughter, Carmen, was seriously injured with two gunshot wounds and rushed to a hospital.

Turpin was found dead with a gun near the body in his wife's transport cafe in Learnington Spa, about 150 miles north of London.

The spot was not far away from the town's main street where the whole community turned out to give Turpin a hero's reception in July 1951.

Turpin had just beaten the great Sugar Ray Robinson for the world middleweight title and was on top of the world.

Just 64 days later Turpin went to New York and lost the title to Robinson on a knockout.

Turpin kept on boxing but never reached the top again.

During his fight career he is believed to have made $560,000. But by 1961 Turpin was bankrupt.

The saddest sight of all in recent years was to see an overweight Turpin performing as a wrestler at $56 a match.

Turpin told friends recently he was worried about a $560 income tax demand which he couldn't pay.

There were also fears that the local Government Council, as part of a development scheme, was going to demolish his wife's cafe—Turpin's main source of livelihood.

Gemini 9 Failure to Be Probed

By HOWARD BENEDICT CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — While an investigation board probed the multimillion-dollar failure of Gemini 9's Atlas-gea target rocket, launch crews pushed ahead today in hopes of launching astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan in two or three weeks.

When Stafford and Cernan can make another stab at their rendezvous and space walk mission will depend on the precise cause of Tuesday's failure.

The results could affect not only the Gemini 9 date, but also several other Atlas-boosted space launches scheduled here and at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California in the next two months.

Also at stake is the future of the U.S. man in space program. But officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said they were confident that a quick rescheduling of Gemini 9 — plus the launching of the three remaining Gemini flights at two-month intervals — would provide all the data necessary to proceed to the three-man Apollo moon project.

The Air Force, which is responsible for the Gemini launch vehicles, reported five hours after Tuesday's failure that one of the three engines in the Atlas booster had swiveled wildly to one side — which missilemen term a hardover — and sent the Atlas-Agena combination tumbling out of control.

The other two Atlas engines continued to burn, but the vehicle was diving back toward earth instead of into space. It plunged into the Atlantic Ocean about 180 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy, near Grand Bahama Island.

The failure was only the third in the last 52 launches in which the Atlas has served as a booster.

Air Force Maj. Gen. Ben I. Funk, chairman of the Gemini Flight Safety Review Board, called for an immediate technical review of the failure. He said that when the exact cause is pinpointed all Atlases slated for flight will be examined to make certain the same problem would not occur.

Fulbright Has Regrets on Some Remarks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in what he called an explanation of his past speeches, said Tuesday that he regrets having said some things in connection with the war in Viet Nam.

Among them, he said, was his charge that Saigon, the capital of South Viet Nam, is an American brothel.

But, he told the National Press Club, he also has noted that the press sometimes has a "peculiar instinct" for reporting statements of politicians in such a way "as to make him regret them."

"Or it may be that I have a peculiar susceptibility," he said. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has been outspokenly critical of the Johnson administration's policy in Viet Nam.

In a reference to the brothel charge, Fulbright quipped: "I am certainly not an authority on the morals and recreational activities of American soldiers, but thanks to the newspapers I am rapidly becoming one."

"Far from maligning these brave young Americans, I very much wish that they were at home going to school, getting jobs, raising families and enjoying the prime of their lives in their own country."

He also turned his attention to a speech in which he said the United States was succumbing to "the arrogance of power."

His speech, Fulbright said, "was not about the arrogance of any individuals who hold power, but about the tendency of powerful nations, of which the United States is the current example, to get puffed up about the terrific things they think they ought to be doing with their power."

AF Borrows Bombs to Fight War

By BOB HORTON WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has had to borrow more than 400,000 bombs from the Navy to help carry out its air strikes in Viet Nam, it was learned today.

The Defense Department provided this figure in response to questions after the bomb diversion came to light in congressional testimony released Tuesday.

A Pentagon spokesman said that between Jan. 1, 1964 and April 30, 1966 "The Navy made available to the Air Force from Navy inventories slightly more than 400,000 bombs of various types and sizes."

The great bulk of this supply was turned over to the Air Force before this year, the spokesman said. No breakdown by year was given but presumably most of the bombs were diverted last year. Air strikes were first launched in North and South Viet Nam in February 1965.

The Navy uses 250- and 500-pound sizes. Depending on how many of each were provided, the Air Force received between 50,000 and 100,000 tons of ammunition.

Officials reported today U.S. forces are striking heavily at what may be the Viet Cong's greatest weakness — his stomach.

Since the year began, the officials said, American troops have captured more than 7,500 tons of rice and well over 400 tons of salt.

Both are basic foods which the Communists cannot ship from North Viet Nam, as they do their arms and other supplies, but must collect in South Viet Nam.

Authorities, assuming a Communist soldier eats about two pounds of rice a day, estimate that the 7,500 tons taken represented food for 125,000 men for two months.

This does not take account of other supplies destroyed by bombing and artillery fire.

There is no claim that the Viet Cong are starving, or approaching that point. But Communist prisoners have told interrogators of going hungry. And officials noted that hunger can lead to weakened morale.

Bids Accepted on Tech Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Board of Education accepted bids Tuesday on construction of four vocational-technical schools and voted to seek federal funds for a new technical institute.

Bids totaling more than $1 million were accepted for the schools to be built at El Dorado, Forrest City, Marked Tree and Harrison.

These schools will bring the total number of vocational-technical training centers in the state to 10.

Blue Skyer Trainer Is Determined

By ORLO ROBERTSON

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Padgett isn't going to let it happen twice. So Thursday morning don't be surprised if he is the first trainer in line when entries open for the 91st running of the $150,000-added Preakness.

The 37-year-old trainer of Blue Skyer almost was left at the gate when the entries were made two weeks ago for the Kentucky Derby. In fact, he hadn't even intended entering the grey son of Promised Land, whose only victory in nine starts this year had been in the Louisiana Derby.

Nobody was more surprised than young Padgett when Blue Skyer finished third behind Kauai King and Advocator, beaten only a half length for all the money.

Blue Skyer was purchased by Padgett's father, Marvin, a Louisville, Ky., distiller, and Hugh Grant of Bradford, Pa., for $50,000 last December on young Padgett's suggestion. The elder Padgett put up 75 per cent, Grant the remainder.

Going into the Preakness Blue Skyer has won himself out with earnings of $67,600.

In the Kentucky Derby, Blue Skyer was a member of the field in the betting. He'll stand alone this time, and you can be assured he'll command more respect.

But try as you may in this crabcake country, you can't get away from Kauai King, the Kentucky Derby winner with the Polynesian name. A Maryland-bred horse hasn't won the middle leg of the Triple Crown since Native Dancer scored in 1953. And Kauai King is son of Native Dancer, bred right here in the heart of the Black Eyed Susan state.

Wednesday, May 18, 1966

As it shaped up today, the names of eight colts and one gelding will go into the entry box Thursday at the cost of $1,000 each. It'll cost another $1,000 apiece to be in the line-up for the 5:46 p.m., EDT, start Saturday. CBS will televise the 1 1/2-mile race from 5:30 p.m., EDT.

With nine starters, the race will be worth $181,500, with $129,000 earmarked for the winner.

In addition to Kauai King and Blue Skyer, the starters are expected to include Derby runner-up Advocator; Stupendous, beaten less than two lengths while finishing fourth in the Derby; Rehabilitate, sixth at Churchill Downs with no excuse; Amberoid, seventh after stumbling at the gate, and three newcomers to the Triple Crown competition—Withers winner Indulto, Understanding and Exceedingly. Indulto is the gelding.

Vows Are Repeated

Mrs. Gordon Cathey

The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cathey was an event of Saturday evening, May 14, in the John Knox Presbyterian Church in Dallas with the Rev. Fred W. Tyler officiating. The bride, Miss Patricia Ann Parker, is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Dale Mitchell of Dallas and the late N. Glen Parker of Hope. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James J. Cathey of Ft. Worth.

Donal Glen Parker gave his sister in marriage and Miss Margaret Sue Parker, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Craig Cathey of Fort Worth was his brother's best man.

The bride is a sophomore at North Texas State University. The couple are on a short honeymoon trip to Lake Texoma.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Silly Season, Adult Variety

Dear Helen: I read by your paper that a Utah (natch!) physician thinks polygamy is the answer for geriatrics: this is, men over 60 should have two wives. To solve the widow problem.

Heaven forbid! A man might handle two wives at age 30, but not after 60. The little ladies get more talkative every year, and a senior citizen hasn't got the strength to knock their yappy heads together.

What goes here? — One's Enuf
Dear O.E.: Spring — that's what goes here! The silly season isn't just for kids. Sometimes doctors indulge too. —H.

Dear Helen: What do you do with a husband who always compares you to someone who is no good? This someone is my sister, but I'm not like her — I do not even associate with her. Yet every time my husband gets made at me, 'm a slob, a slut, a no good bum, and why don't I pack my bags and go live with my kind?

This is only when he is mad. He's wonderful the other times; then of comes the charm and on come the insults. Why can't he fight fair? — End of My Rope

Dear Helen: Who ever heard of "fighting fair" in a domestic battle? When you are mad clear through, you fight to hurt, and you use the words that will hurt most. Your husband knows you are ashamed of your sister, and subconsciously afraid you may be like her; at the same time family loyalty tells you you can't. He's got a whole of a psychological advantage, and don't blame him for playing dirty when he's furious. I'll bet you do the same, with an available weapon (like your mother-in-law, perhaps, or his "nothing status" at the office.)

If you two can discuss this urge to hurt during one of the "charmed" moments, you may avoid a lot of knife-twisting. You may even avoid a lot of future battles when you learn what bugs the other most and understand how to cope with it. —H.

Overgenerous Grandma
Dear Helen: Every time my mother-in-law comes to the house she brings a shopping bag loaded with gifts.

The children's first words are, "What did you bring us?" Here is a sample from one day's visit: An expensive game for each, super balls for each, candy all around, cake ditto, and 75 trading cards.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Best on Record," seen Monday night on NBC, is the one awards show of the year that skips the envelope-opening, statue presenting and speeches of gratitude.

The performers were winner of "Grammy Awards" of the recording industry weeks ago. Thus the program was mainly a convenient excuse for a program of popular music performed by assorted stars of the record business. It did lack some of the suspense that builds up in the usual awards show — and because most of the recording stars were musicians — mostly singers — it also lacked the balance found in the usual variety hour.

The hour program was taped in bits and pieces in New York and Hollywood to meet the convenience of the performers, and when put together proved to be a pleasantly tenuous hour.

The producer attempted to break up the static quality of too many solo numbers by bringing on assorted performing stars to do the introduction. But none, including Bob Hope and Steve Allen was really given enough time to be very entertaining.

NBC, which has been struggling valiantly to overtake CBS' commanding lead in the popularity of daytime programs, will drop two morning soap operas — "Morning Star" and "Paradise Bay" — at the end of June. They will be replaced by two more game shows in the network's heavy lineup of morning games on July 4.

One, "Chain Letter," at 11 a.m., will star comedian Jan Murray who once had an NBC game show called "Treasure Hunt." It will be followed by a show called "Show Down," involving questions and answers, with Joe Pyne as master of ceremonies. Pyne is a Los Angeles radio interviewer who specializes in tough hard-question sessions. He will not, however be rough on the audience.

contestants in the television show, NBC assures, Producers of "Bewitched," ABC's popular comedy, have signed Sandra Gould to play the role created by the late Alice Pearce in the series. Miss Pearce died some three months ago. George Tobias and Miss Gould will play the neighbors named Kravitz who have been in and out of the series since its inception.

Dodgers Still Haven't Beat Juan Marichal

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers are halfway to beating Juan Marichal.

The Dodgers, who haven't beaten the San Francisco ace in more than a year, edged the Giants 2-1 in 13 innings Tuesday night after holding Marichal to a tie in 10 innings.

The tie was an improvement over the outcome two weeks ago when he stopped them 8-1 on four hits. The next logical step, then, would be for the Dodgers to progress the rest of the way and defeat Marichal.

The last time they accomplished that feat was April 29, 1965, when they squeaked by him 2-1. He holds a four-game winning streak against them and is 18-8 lifetime.

Los Angeles nearly missed gaining the tie, and Marichal nearly had his eighth victory of the season without a loss.

But the Dodgers, who managed just five hits in the first eight innings, finally scored in the ninth, tying the game 1-1. Maury Wills beat out a bunt, raced to third as Jim Gilliam singled and came home on Willie Davis' fly to Willie Mays in center field.

Marichal stopped the Dodgers in the 10th, then left for a pinch hitter in the 11th, his earned run average only slightly higher at 0.78.

I took more than eight innings for the Dodgers to toss a firecracker themselves.

In other National League games, Cincinnati blanked New York 4-0, Pittsburgh defeated Atlanta 5-2 and Philadelphia trimmed St. Louis 5-3. Rain washed out Houston at Chicago.

In the American League, Cleveland edged Washington 3-2, Baltimore beat Boston 8-6, Detroit whipped New York 7-2 and Minnesota downed Chicago 8-3. Rain also halted California at Kansas City.

The Dodgers finally won in the 13th inning when Wes Parker led off with a single against Frank Linzy, dashed to third on Wills' single and continued home as right fielder Ollie Brown fired the ball into the Los Angeles dugout.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney won his third game without a defeat, stopping New York on two hits and retiring the last 22 men he faced. Don Pavulicich drove in two Red runs with a double and a homer while Vada Pinson knocked in a pair with a single and a grounder.

Dann Clendenon's two-run single climaxed a three-run rally in the sixth inning that carried Pittsburgh past Atlanta. Manny Mota completed the Pirate comeback, doubling across a run in the seventh and stealing home. Hank Aaron homered for the Braves.

The Phillies got two bases-loaded walks in the seventh inning for their victory over St. Louis. Nelson Briles walked Dick Groat, forcing in the tie-breaking run, then gave way to Joe Hoerner, who walked John Callison.

Chisox Take Twins, Detroit Mauls Yanks

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tony Oliva won't need a travel agent if he ever decides to roam. Eddie Stanky has volunteered for the job and there's a line forming behind the Chicago White Sox pilot.

Oliva crashed a pair of long home runs Tuesday night, powering Minnesota to an 8-3 victory over the White Sox and prompting Stanky to divulge his travel plans for the Twins slugger.

"He should be playing in Japan," Stanky said. "He could make a million over there, and I'd pay his way over there. In fact, know about eight other managers in this league that will pay, too."

Chances are Oliva will settle for domestic travel this season particularly around the bases. The two-time American League batting champion has hit nine homers while lifting his average to .407 tops in the league.

His 3-for-4 Tuesday night gave him nine hits in 11 at-bats in three appearances against the White Sox this year, and put him in select company as far as Stanky is concerned.

Oliva's three-run homer in the first inning and most shot in the third helped left-hander Jim Kaat go the distance for his fourth victory as the Twins climbed into the first division for the first time since the opening week of the season.

Elsewhere, Detroit mauled the New York Yankees 7-2 behind Dennis McLain's two-hitter and three homers, Cleveland edged Washington 3-2 on Max Alvis' two-run homer and Baltimore topped Boston 8-6 with a four-run rally in the sixth inning. California was rained out at Kansas City.

Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 2-1 in 13 innings, Cincinnati blanked New York 4-0, Pittsburgh downed Atlanta 5-2 and Philadelphia beat St. Louis 5-3 in the National League. Rain washed out the Houston-Chicago Cubs game.

Minnesota's sixth victory tied the Twins' Camilo Pascual for the league lead, barely survived a streak of first inning wildness before taming the Yankees. He walked three straight batters in the first and was touched for two runs on Roger Maris' sacrifice fly and Roger Repoz' single.

The Detroit right-hander yielded only one other hit—a double by Maris in the fourth—and retired the last 16 Yankees in order.

Bill Freehan's homer and Don Wert's sacrifice fly tied the score in the fifth; a two-run homer by Don Demeter sent the Tigers ahead in the sixth and a three-run shot by Willie Horton wrapped it up in the eighth.

Alvis' homer off San Delgo capped a three-run uprising by the Indians in the sixth and preserved Sam McDowell's unbeaten record. McDowell was lifted in the fifth with the Senators ahead 2-0. Don McMahon, winner Tom Kelley and Bob Allen pitched hitless relief for the Indians over the last 4 1-3 innings.

A two-run triple by Luis Aparicio keyed Baltimore's sixth-inning outburst, which shot the Orioles ahead 8-5 and nullified Rico Petrocelli's grand slam homer for the Red Sox.

Petrocelli, whose two errors in the first inning had helped the Orioles to three runs, gave Boston a 5-4 lead in the fourth with his second bases-loaded homer of the season.

Clay Expects to Defeat Henry Cooper

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay says he expects to defeat Britain's Henry Cooper Saturday and be defending his world heavyweight title "within seven weeks against anyone."

Talking at times like the old Clay, the champion dismissed comparison with former great fighters.

"Joe Louis and Rocky Marciano would have been no match for me," he told newsmen.

"They were flat-footed fighters. Jack Johnson was probably the best of the old days, and I'd have whipped him."

"The next greatest fighter to me was Sugar Ray Robinson." Clay decided not to spar at his London gym Tuesday. Instead he shadow boxed and hit the heavy bag.

Down at his gym, Cooper put in such spirited sparring with American Jimmy Fletcher that there were alarmed cries of "take it easy" from the Cooper camp.

Cooper, 32, is giving away eight years to the 24-year-old Englishman.

Sports Viewers Have Choice, But Housewife Doesn't May 21

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Saturday, May 21, is a day of kinetic expectations in sports. The spectator might have to move faster than the athlete to take it all in — unless he's got one of those remote control gadgets that change channels at the flick of a switch.

Compressed into one day of action are two world championship fights, one of the Triple Crown races, a major golf tournament and a full slate of major league baseball.

Never have the antiperspirants, shaving creams, lotions, lifetime blades, car rebellions and many scents reaped a bigger audience bonanza.

Start the rundown with baseball, that faded old favorite which still hasn't quite learned to live with or without television. On May 21, the Chicago White Sox will host the Cleveland Indians in the NBC game of the week, an attractive bit of scheduling since both teams are prime contenders in the American League pennant race. As a backup game (in case of rain and to go into the Chicago and Cleveland markets where the network exposure is verboten according to terms of the contract), the tube will carry the Minnesota Twins against the revitalized New York Yankees.

In the New York City area alone, as an example, a fellow can switch between the Indians-White Sox on Channel 4 and the Twins-Yankees on Channel 11, then merrily make it a troika when the Mets at San Francisco come in on Channel 9, starting at 4 p.m.

That's just the start. At 4:30, Sports Network brings in the races from Aqueduct on Channel 5. At 5:30, CBS gets into the act with its telecast of the Preakness from Pimlico, over Channel 2, as Kauai King tries to add the second leg of the Triple Crown of racing to his victory in the Kentucky Derby. The time is Eastern daylight.

In the meantime, however, ABC uses the world as its sports stage and through the hopefully lucid co-operation of Early Bird, the manmade satellite, presents the first live transoceanic championship fight in history—Cassius (Muhammad Ali) Clay against Henry Cooper. That starts at 5 o'clock New York time, 10 o'clock in London.

NBC, however, doesn't quite give up the ghost (make that gray ghosts if you're in a bad reception area) when the baseball games fade into twilight. At 5:30, venerable old Sam Snead comes from out of the can with his filmed television lesson on how to hit a golf ball the way the Slammer does.

For the aficionados who prefer their action live and out-of-doors, there are still a few tidbits. In Fort Worth, the Texas version of the Masters will be in its third round. That's the Colonial National Invitational Golf tournament on Ben Hogan's home course, with the Hawk as the official host. If you don't feel like going to Fort Worth for the weekend, wait until Sunday and you can get the final round on television, too.

In the track and field orbit, the Big Ten stages its annual conference meet at Bloomington, Ind., the AAUW (or Pacific Coast schools) dot the track at Stanford University with its finest sprinters, hurdlers, et al; and the Western Athletic Conference track teams exert themselves in the high air of Provo, Utah.

Then, as darkness seeps in around the land, Shea Stadium in New York becomes the battleground for the light heavyweight championship of the world test between incumbent Jose Torres and challenger Wayne Thornton.

This one was conceived without benefit of television. That's why they took the risk of staging it outdoors, where rain might cancel a bout and foul up the stations which have pre-empted time to telecast the fight.

Now, however, Combat, Inc., the promoters have succumbed, too, and are setting up an independent network to put the fight into 40 or 50 markets.

Matt Dillon should raise all kinds of hell. Not to mention the poor lady of the house.

Braves Can Play Waiting on Decision

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball's Braves have won court permission to keep on playing in Atlanta while the Wisconsin Supreme Court studies an appeal of the National League's antitrust conviction.

A court order for the Braves to return to Milwaukee today was suspended Tuesday by Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller after the state's Supreme Court agreed to hear the appeal June 9.

Baseball attorneys indicated their appeal would attack again the issue of whether a state court had jurisdiction over a sport extending from coast to coast.

"Baseball is an interstate business and at this time all of baseball is outside the jurisdiction of this court," Braves' attorney Earl Jinkinson told Roller in an unsuccessful move for a new trial.

Roller found the Braves, the National League and its other nine members guilty last month of violating Wisconsin's antitrust law by moving the club to Atlanta and leaving Milwaukee without a major league team.

The U.S. District Court at Milwaukee refused last fall to intervene in the state case and Roller ruled before the start of the six-week trial that his court did have jurisdiction.

Jinkinson criticized sharply that "kooky, nutty idea...that baseball when played in Milwaukee does not violate the antitrust laws but when played outside Wisconsin it does."

The motion for a new trial was a necessary prelude to carrying the case to the Wisconsin Supreme Court. After the session Tuesday Braves' attorney Ray T. McCann filed formal notice of appeal with Roller's court clerk.

The actual appeal will be lodged with the Supreme Court in the state capital of Madison as soon as possible, probably within a few days, McCann said.

Sideroblastic Anemia Baffles Treatment

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What is sideroblastic anemia? What causes it and what can be done for it?

A—The nearest I can come to the disease you named is sideroblastic anemia. This type is manifested by an abnormal increase in bone marrow and signs of impaired utilization of the iron (siderosis) in the blood. The iron is not bound to the hemoglobin (the chemical that carries oxygen to your tissues) as it is in normal blood. The cause is unknown and the disease fails to respond to any of the measures used to treat other forms of anemia.

Q—About eight months ago, my doctor said I had hypochromic microcytic anemia. More recently he referred to it as secondary anemia. He is giving me vitamin B-12 and iron which have helped me. He says I do not have aplastic anemia or leukemia. How serious are the types I do have?

A—Hypochromic microcytic anemia is characterized by red blood cells that are smaller and fewer than normal and deficient in hemoglobin. In most cases this is due to an iron deficiency, which may result from a lack of iron in your diet, defective absorption of iron from your digestive tract or chronic loss of blood.

The most usual cause is chronic blood loss, which may be due to bleeding piles, prolonged daily use of aspirin or excessive loss of blood during menstruation. Your anemia is probably secondary to such a cause and, as such, should be completely curable. This is not a serious type of anemia but any anemia is serious if it is not controlled.

Q—What are the symptoms of Addison's disease? Can it be cured?

A—Addison's disease is a chronic deficiency of the adrenals. With it there is gradually increasing weakness, loss of weight, nausea and a dark discoloration of the skin and mucous membranes. It may be caused by tuberculosis or any other infection that damages the adrenals. Once a fatal disease, it can now be controlled by giving adrenal hormones while an attack is made on the cause.

Pernicious anemia is sometimes referred to as Addison's disease, or more properly Addison's anemia. This, too, can be controlled—in this case with vitamin B-12.

Q—I frequently get an electric shock when I touch my television set. What would cause it and how can I avoid it?

A—It must be static electricity from walking on a carpet. You can get the same shock when you touch anything. You can avoid it by wearing rubbers or taking up your rugs.

Ky Saw Big Chance and He Took It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky is a flashy, ambitious man, and apparently crafty. It's the crafty bit which seems to have taken President Johnson's administration by surprise over the weekend.

Ky just did what he backed away from doing a few weeks ago. He sent his troops into South Viet Nam's northern city of Da Nang to take over. The reason seems clear: the chance for success looks better now than then.

Early in 1965 Ky gagged when offered the job of youth and sports minister in Viet Nam's government. He was commander of the air force and he didn't want to give up that job for the other. He was assured he could have both.

So he accepted the ministerial job, too, and about six months later hit the jackpot when the generals took over the government and he was made premier. This might have seemed — and in the end may turn out that way — like just one more government in a long line. Nine governments had come and gone since President Ngo Dinh Diem was thrown out and killed in 1963.

But Ky, as Sunday's events showed, wasn't the type to give up easily even though at time he may have seemed to accept adversity rather meekly.

His turmoil began last March when he forced a showdown with a rival, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, who was thrown out of the military junta and out of command of the northern provinces where he had close ties with the Buddhists.

Monks and students in Da Nang in the north, and elsewhere, demanded the reinstatement of Thi. They demonstrated against Ky's government.

Under this pressure Ky promised a constitutional convention and elections to create a civilian government. But he finally got fed up with the rumpus and flew 4,000 troops to Da Nang's air base April 4.

Then he decided not to use them against the city. The rumpus gradually quieted down; at least it lost its intensity. In view of what happened Sunday Ky must have figured April 4 was not a good time to use troops.

But it was only a temporary yielding.

Drawing up a constitution with a constitutional assembly and preparing for the elections will take time. And recently Ky announced he would stay in office another year.

Further, he said, if the people elected a neutralist or Communist government the army would fight. The Buddhists muttered but this time there was no vast outpouring in protest.

And Sunday Ky went through with what he had stopped short of doing before. He airlifted military forces to Da Nang. After a fight they took the city.

It was all done so quickly the Johnson administration disavowed any advance knowledge of what Ky had in mind. He acted while Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to Viet Nam was here conferring with Johnson.

Although the administration in Washington ordered U. S. officials in Saigon to press for a peaceful solution, this may be wishful thinking in a disorderly country like Viet Nam.

These past few weeks gave Ky time to rally his forces, figure the strength and weakness of his opponents, and take care of any fences which needed mending before he acted, as he did Sunday.

Now China Undergoing Big Change

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen or 17 years look like a reasonable time to expect convulsions and, but the leadership, a morbid fear of change within the big Communist world. It happened in the Soviet Union and is happening now in Red China.

If the spectacle of Americans heckling one another over the Vietnamese war gives an impression of some uncertainty about U.S. foreign policy, the antics of the Red Chinese give a positive picture of confusion and frustration.

Stalin began his infamous purges in 1934, just 17 years after the Bolsheviks took over.

Czarist Russia. By forced former party faithfuls in Red China. But the leadership's publication of the intellectuals reveals the discontent with the leadership's iron policies.

Now, 16 years after seizing mainland China, the Red Chinese leadership is the Soviet Union into becoming humiliating some of the leading one of the great powers. But the Chinese intellectuals, among other things by publicizing their alleged confession of wrong-ership under Mao Tze-tung is thinking.

So far there has been no news of executions of intellectuals or Mao and those close to Mao to silence the discontented, the disenchanted, and the critics of his regime. Stalin was 54 when he began the purges and 73 when he died in 1953, a span of 19 years.

Thus he had plenty of time to make his will prevail. And it did prevail, but only until his death. Then he was repudiated and changes began.

But Mao is already 72 with not much time left for silencing the critics. Until Tuesday, when Peking reported him back in circulation, he had not been seen since November.

If Mao alone was the old one in the Red Chinese leadership, he could expect those close to him would persist in his policies. But those in his leadership group are close to him in age. Time is running out for all of them.

Biblical scholars place the time of Abraham's life as between 2100 and 1600 B.C.

"Do you feel it too, John... that there's something rather sweet and sentimental about the electric dishwasher being broken?"

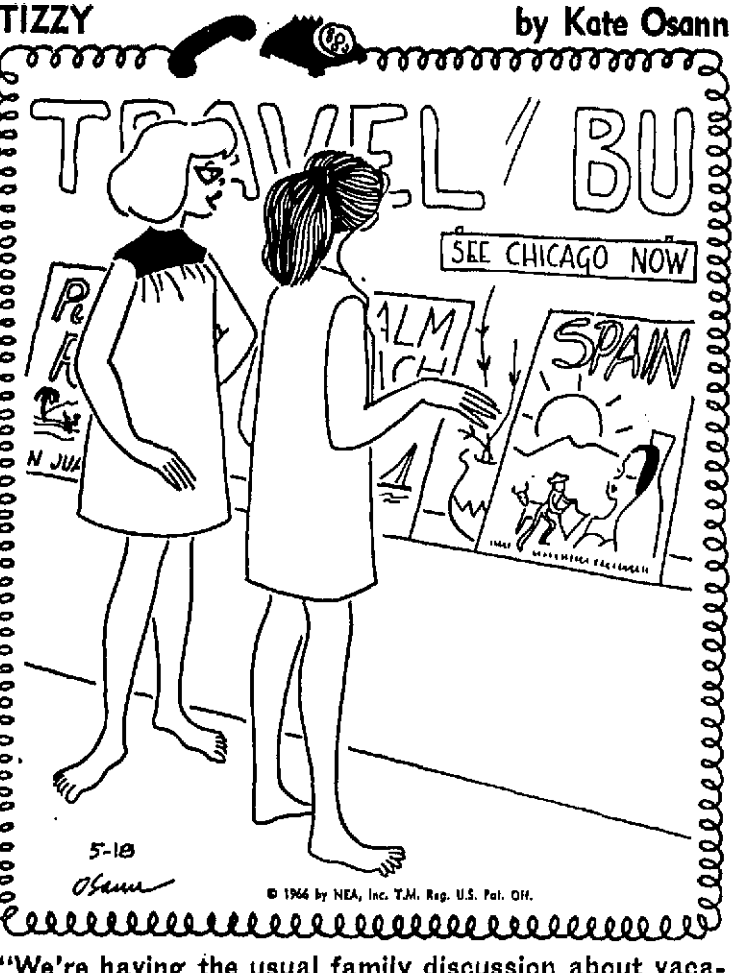

"You know something, Ben? This retirement business is just too tough for a fellow my age!"

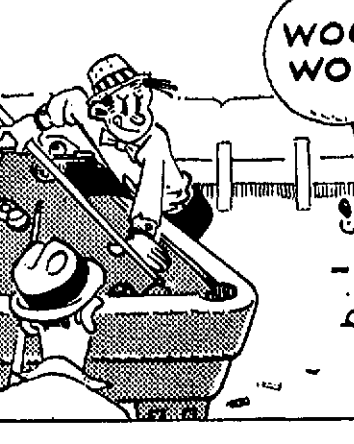

The Aztecs had a primitive cigarette in the form of tobacco stuffed into a hollow reed or cane tube. Other natives of Mexico, Central America and parts of South America crushed tobacco leaves and rolled the shreds in corn husks or other vegetable wrappers. The widespread use of the cigarette in the English-speaking world dates from the end of the Crimean War, which introduced the British soldiery to Turkish cigarettes.

Opening lead—A ♣.

Jacoby Senior starts today's discussion. "Here is an example of really fine card reading by George Raape of New York."

Jim: "It was much more than mere card reading. George really placed almost every East-West card before he led to trick two."

Oswald: "He started by noting that West's queen of spades opening marked East with the ace and king. East had passed to start with so it was a certainty that West would hold the ace of clubs and almost a certainty that he would also show up with the king of diamonds so that South decided not to try a diamond finesse."

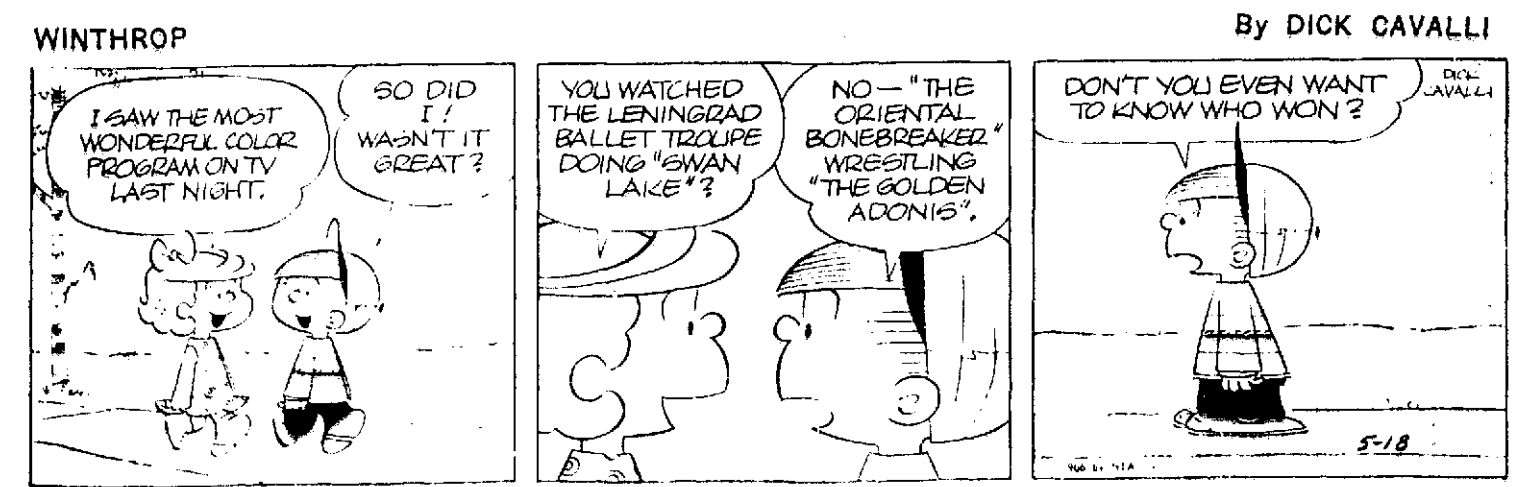

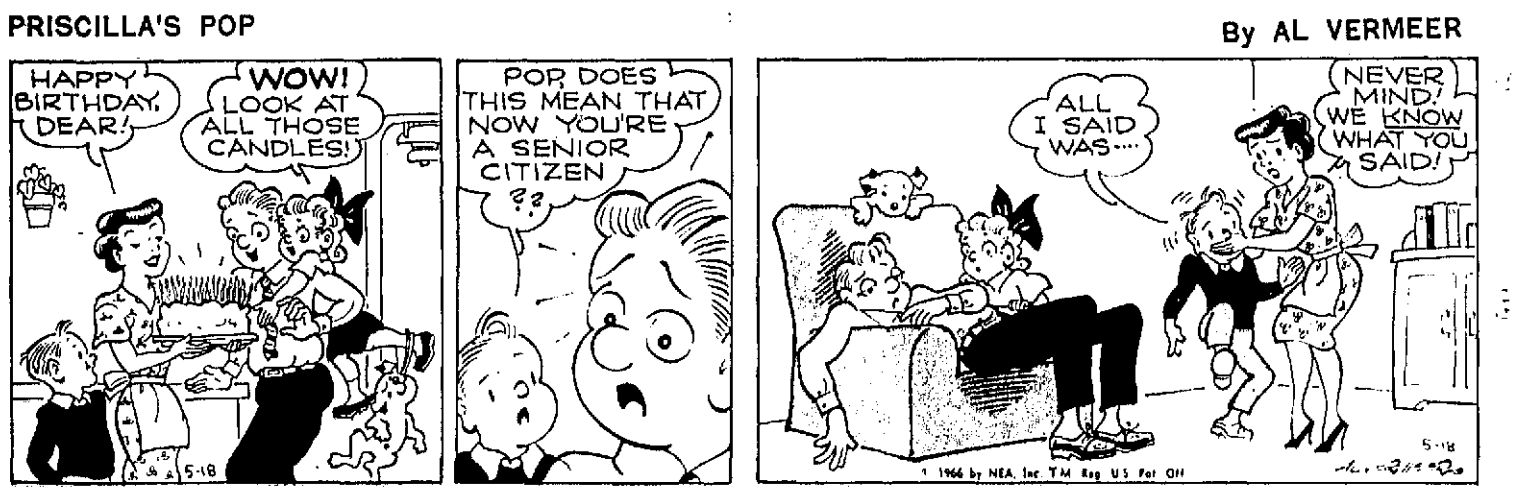

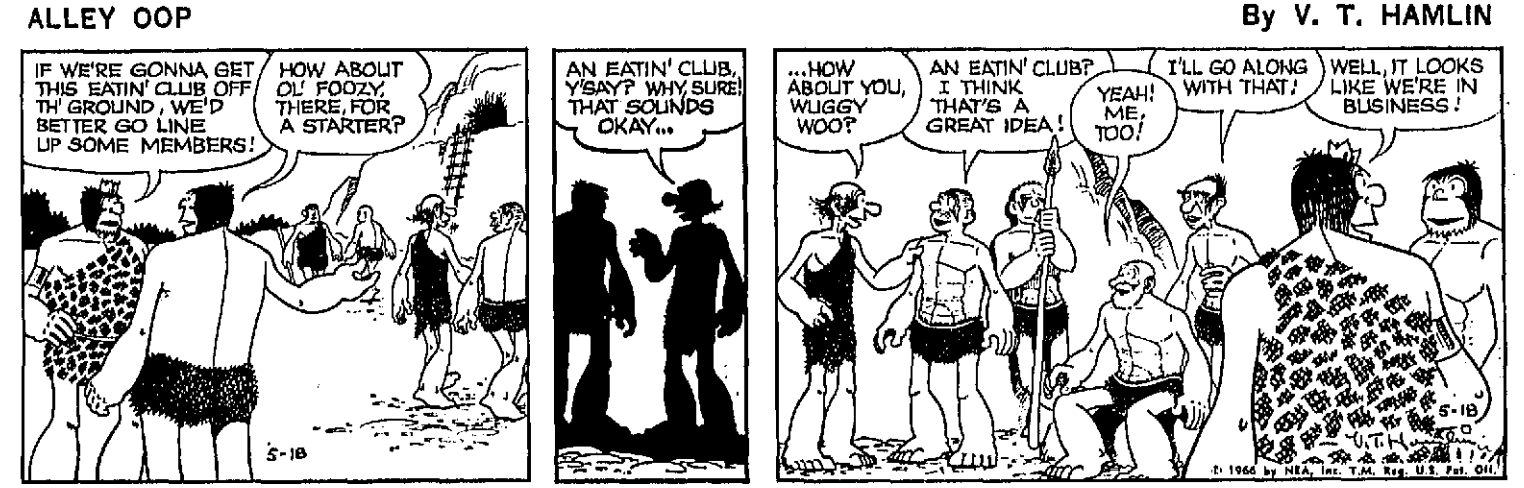

Jim: "He could afford to lose the diamond finesse if he could avoid the loss of a heart trick. He had two simple ways to do this. He could discard one of dummy's hearts on his own fourth club or he could finesse the heart successfully."

Oswald: "George found an additional chance. At trick two he led a club to dummy's jack. Then he ruffed another spade and played ace and one trump. West was on lead and got out by leading a third spade. George ruffed this and played his king of clubs. West was in with the ace and had no way to get out. A fourth spade lead would give George a ruff and discard, so West led away from his queen of hearts in the hope that his partner held the jack."

Jim: "If George had known about the actual club break he could have just led a low club, but his play protected against the actual 4-2 break and all possible 3-3 breaks in that suit."

Meredith Has Entered Politics

NEW YORK (AP) — James H. Meredith, the first known Negro to break the color barrier at the University of Mississippi, has tossed his hat into New York City's political arena.

Meredith said Monday night he plans to run in Harlem as an insurgent Democratic candidate seeking a seat as a delegate at next April's state constitutional convention.

Meredith, 33, now a student at Columbia University's Law School, will be one of three candidates running against a slate backed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

Church Decides on One Man, One Vote

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Episcopal Diocese of Maryland has decided to follow the example of some of the 50 states.

Delegates to its annual convention voted Tuesday to reapportion themselves more closely to a "one-man, one-vote" principle.

Under the new constitutional amendment, the number of delegates each church may select will be based on its communicants rather than the number of clergy based at the church. One delegate will be allowed for each 400 communicants or fraction thereof.

Uncertainty Is Certain in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — A country with a fever. The one certainty about South Viet Nam is its uncertainty, no matter how optimistic the Johnson administration sounds about it.

There had to be a showdown there between the military government and the Buddhists who want to topple it while the United States is busy trying to defend it against the Communists.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who met with President Johnson in Honolulu last February, forced the showdown over the weekend when troops loyal to him seized Viet Nam's second largest city, Da Nang, a Buddhist stronghold.

This could mean civil war, and a bloody one.

The Johnson administration appeared deeply disturbed and said it had no foreknowledge of Ky's action. Johnson met repeatedly with his top aides. Then late Monday a high U.S. official said he doubted there would be civil war.

He would not let his name be used but met with newsmen after a late Monday conference between Johnson and his aides, including Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam.

But this official's optimism turned out to be limited.

While he didn't expect war now, he said he foresaw a long period of instability — while the United States was still trying to keep out the Communists — but hopefully thought this might evolve into stability.

And this gets back to a basic question:

If no civil war now, what about later? The country has been more or less chaotic for years. While Ky may get away with his showdown now, no one can predict there won't be a blood bath eventually.

The South Vietnamese have never had democracy. Their concern, as they have demonstrated it, has never been so much for the national interest as for the interest of special groups.

The more chaotic Viet Nam becomes, the less reason the United States can have before the world for keeping its forces there to defend against communism a people who meanwhile make war on themselves.

If under such circumstances the United States had to pull out, it would be an international embarrassment for the United States without parallel in its history.

Slowdown in Economy Is Misleading

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The slowdown in the economy could be overestimated because it is making its first appearance in the three places to which the public pays most attention: the stock market, the auto industry and home building.

Much of the rest of the economy is still whirling along at about the same speed and some sectors are likely to increase their pace.

But a chill has replaced the speculative fever in the stock market. And when stock prices drop, many Americans—even those who don't own a single share—begin to shiver.

The auto industry has cut back from full-speed production after sales slipped slightly from a pace that outsiders had considered hard to maintain. And the general public holds widely to the opinion that as the auto industry goes so goes the nation.

Home building stopped expanding some time back. But many had hoped that this spring would see a revival. This hasn't come so far. And home builders tend to blame tight money and higher interest rates. When cities and towns stop growing at a breakneck speed, the local citizens worry.

But much of the rest of the economy is still zooming along. Steel output has climbed to the highest rate of the year. Last week the mills turned out 2,776,000 tons. This isn't far from the record week's production of 2,806,000 tons set in the week ending April 24, 1965. And the mills are talking about a good chance that total tonnage this month will be the highest for any May.

Defense spending has picked up speed. And as the factories get the government orders, busy weeks and months lie ahead.

The aircraft industry is enjoying not only defense orders but large ones from commercial airlines, both here and abroad.

Consumer spending in general continues at a high rate, with only car buying as the main, and most publicized, exception. But even if auto sales slip from last year's nine-million unit pace, the total will still be higher than in most other years.

Industrial output in general was still rising in April. The gain for the month wasn't as much as in March and February. And cutbacks in the auto factories may clip the May figures. But production of consumer goods—both durables and soft goods—is well ahead of last year's rate. And few business leaders look for any real decline for some months to come.

The So Called Fun City to Many Is Actually a City of Growing Disenchantment

NEW YORK (AP) — This place is called "Fun City," but the truth is—taint funny, McGee.

To many it is a city of growing disenchantment.

O. Henry's old Baghdad on the Subway still is a metropolis of glitter and possible romance, where anything can happen. The trouble is just that—everything does happen.

New York still has the world's tallest skyscrapers, some of the world's greatest restaurants, and loveliest women. If you have enough scratch, you can buy anything here that's for sale—including love and justice.

Yep, it's still the city that has the mostest of just about everything. Among its claims to fame it doesn't like to claim:

It has some of the world's dirtiest air.

It has the world's noisiest subways.

It has some of the world's meanest muggers, so mean that women hate to go out on its streets after dark.

It probably leads the world in juvenile vandalism.

It has more people on relief than most foreign nations.

It has some of the world's worst traffic jams. You can grow old before your time just trying to get across town.

It has one of the world's largest sanitation departments—among certain some of the filthiest streets this side of the casbah in Algiers.

It has probably the world's most frightened civic population. People are so afraid of getting involved in trouble they look away from a murders other won't have to report it to the police.

It has one of the world's weirdest tax structures — so weird that the New York Stock Exchange is threatening to move to New Jersey, so weird that smuggling in tax-free cigarettes by "Buttlegrers" has become a major industry.

And when it comes to strikes and work stoppages, New York tops them all.

You'd think, from the way I'm knocking the big town, I'd head for the hinterland.

Well, I would, except that I still love New York. I think I'll hang around and see how it looks when the deer, the chipmunks, and the wild foxes move back in and take over the cold deserted concrete canyons.

That shouldn't be too long.
